Carlos Burundarena was recently made a member of the National Executive Committee of the Alianza Libertadora Nacionalista (ALN). He has only recently returned to Argentina from a stay of over a year and a half in Spain, and has become quite active in spreading propaganda for the Nationalists. Burundarena was financed during his entire stay in Spain by the Spanish Falange, and spent most of his time studying the institutions and methods of the latter group. While in Spain, he attended the Pax Romana Congress (September 1946) as a delegate of the ALN.

Since his return to Argentina Burundarena has been active in instructing the youths of the ALN in such matters as street fighting techniques, and in giving lectures on the theme: Spain and Argentina have a common destiny.

Burundarena in his propaganda technique has criticized the vacillating policies of Peron, the latter's industrialization program, the imperialistic attitude of the United States, and the Rio Conference. One of Burundarena's favorite themes is the formation of a Latin American bloc, allied with Spain, which can play an effective part in the fight between the Communist and imperialist blocs. Burundarena claims that in the ideological struggle now going on between Russia and the United States there is a chance for the Hispanic bloc to achieve freedom from both Communism and imperialism.
